

HR Wallingford
Working with water

project

Port Sultan Qaboos Review of techno-economic masterplan study

client Port Services Corporation Oman

location Oman

year 2004

HR Wallingford was commissioned by Port Services Corporation (SAOG) of Oman to carry out a review of the techno-economic study for Port Sultan Qaboos. This follows on from a previous study carried out by Halcrow International Partnership in 2003, which provided a masterplan strategy for the development of Port Sultan Qaboos.

The expert review, based on work undertaken in Oman, identified additional measures that should be considered further in the future development of the port facility, including container terminal planning, metocean and onshore requirements. These issues were included in the final masterplan development for the future strategic development of the port.

